

View of the Valley of Elah from Socoh

This panoramic view of the Elah Valley from the south is an approximate view of what the Philistine army saw as they faced the Israelites in the battle commonly known as "David vs. Goliath." The Philistines were encamped on the south side of the valley and King Saul's forces occupied the hill on the northern side.